

Angel Investor Talks Start-Up Talent

Interested in starting up a high-technology company? This may be your chance.

Andrew Fisher, executive vice president of Wesley Clover International, will be at McMaster University to describe the company's successful growth formula.

Wesley Clover is the firm created by telecommunications billionaire Terry Matthews. It has seen the development of some 100 high-technology companies over the past decade.

Looking for Young Entrepreneurs

Wesley Clover recruits bright, motivated and hard-working new entrepreneurs and pairs them with industry leaders within specific vertical segments.

Thursday, November 4, 2010
10:00 – 11:00 a.m.

Engineering Technology Building, Room 535
McMaster University

Speaker: Andrew Fisher

- Mr. Fisher manages a portfolio of ICT and digital media companies globally.
- He acts as a business prime for the Wesley Clover affiliate program.
- He serves on the board of directors for March Entertainment, Benbria and Teldio Corporations.
- He is a member of the advisory board for the Canadian Digital Media Network and the Canadian Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade, Information and Communications Technologies.
- He is an honors graduate from the University of British Columbia, with an academic background in computer science, engineering and economics.

